LAWBREAKING AT MT. JACKSON. Trustee Feller Places Himself in an Unenviable Position. The Democratic board of trustees at Mount Jackson are fulfilling the pledges made by the party to the saloon and dive keepers before the recent election. In this suburb the vicious element made unusual efforts to secure control of the machinery of the law. It succeeded. The violations of law became so marked and notorious that the citizens held a meeting last week and discussed the matter. The trustees closed on Sunday, but a few days afterwards rescinded the order. Justice of the Peace Feller, although he has taken an oath as a magistrate, as a trustee voted to allow the saloons to keep open on Sunday in direct violation of the law. Rev. W. B. Dunham, of the Mount Jackson chapel, scathingly arraigned the trustees for their action in a sermon last Sunday, and yesterday, in an interview, Feller sneeringly insinuated that there has been crap-shooting in the vestry of the church. Trustee Baker, of the board, is opposed to the Sunday violations of the

at Y. M. C. A. Hall, last evening, by Miss Louise Schrader, soprano, and Mr. Edward Nell, baritone. Both have been educated in music at the college and their proficiency was shown in a programme which included a variety of selections. Miss Schrader has a dramatic style, which is always pleasing, and her clear high notes and distinct enunciation give an added beauty to her songs. Mr. Nell's voice was wonderfully improved and whatever he sang was a mished number. Mr. Nell and Miss Schrader opened the programme with "O, That We Two Were Maying," in canon form, by Henschel. Their voices harmonized and the rendition was a lesson in the peculiarity of composition which was enjoyable and interesting. The two also sang a duet from "The Marriage of Figaro," as a closing number. Both were applauded. Miss Schrader was recalled for her singing of Reinicke's "Spring Song" with violin obligato by Mr. Koster. Mr. Koster played "Walther's Prize Song," from the Meister-singer in place of the duet announced by Miss Chariton and Miss Meigs, and for the violin obligato in place of Mr. Schliewen, he substituted two short compositions for the "Polonaise" by Wieniawski, of the programme. Mr. Arens acted as accompanist and one of Mr. Nell's numbers was "Slumber Sweetly," composed by Mr. Arens.

Two Minor Accidents.

William Williams, a colored man, aged eighty-four years, and living at the corner of Mississippi and Seventh streets, was struck by a car on the Brightwood electric line, yesterday afternoon, and one of his thighs fractured. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Eugene Moriarity, a young man residing at No. 3 Leota street, attempted to board a Panhandle train at the Leota street crossing in the afternoon and was dragged a considerable distance. His foot was

Rain at the Summer Mission. The summer mission for sick children at Fairview Park was practically opened yesterday, when six children, in charge of attendants, went to the park about 9 o'clock. They were not permitted to play around, how ver, on account of the damp-ness of the ground. When it was seen that it would soon be raining heavily the chil-dren and attendants boarded the special car, which was held at the park, and returned to the city. If the weather permits this morning a larger attendance is ex-

She Was to Remove Cleveland. Louisa Hudson, a half-Indian, half-colored woman, twenty-seven years of age, was declared insane yesterday. She is the one who called at the residence of ex-President Harrison. At the police station she made the startling announcement that she was the bride of Jesus Christ and that she had been dead several times and resurrected. She said she was on her way to Washington to remove President Cleveland and deliver lectures to the Coxey army.

EIGHT-STORY

ODD FELLOW LODGES HAVE PUR-CHASED GROUND FOR A BUILDING.

To Be at the Corner of Delaware and Wabash Streets-Progress of the Project.

The erection of a new eight-story building may be begun in this city during the summer. If the building is erected it will be at the corner of Delaware and Wabash streets, just north of Tomlinson Hall. The ground on this corner, with a frontage of eighty feet on Delaware street and a depth of 165 feet on Wabash street, is owned by three lodges of Odd Fellows. The lodges which own the ground are Center, No. 13, Philoxenian, No. 44, and Capital, No. 124. They purchased the ground jointly some time ago with a view to joining in the erection of a large building upon it to be used for lodge purposes as well as general office and business uses. They have succeeded in acquiring clear title to the ground, and all of them were so confident of the project that they felt warranted in ordering plans and specifications for the building to be prepared.

The lodges had raised funds by various means to such an amount that they felt they could go ahead with the project and complete it upon money borrowed for the purpose. The plans called for an eightstory building constructed of rough stone. The corner on Wabash and Delaware streets was to be surmounted by a small tower. The Odd Fellows proposed to build such a building as would be a credit to their order and to the city and one that would prove to be a profitable investment, giving them ample return for the investment of their money. The cost of the building alone was to be $65,000. The ground has already been entirely paid for by funds raised by the three lodges named. Two of them are still ready and anxious to go ahead with the project and let the contract for the building immediately. The other has shown signs of wavering, and at that favor the building are waiting to see what the ultimate action of the other will be in regard to going ahead with the work. The question is to come up again in the lodge at its next meeting, and if it should then decide to rescind its former action the building will be begun as soon as the contract can be let. If the lodge should adhere to its former vote and decide not to enter the project the two lodges will likely make it a proposition for the purchase of its interest in the ground and go ahead with the building themselves. If the build-ing is erected it will be a magnificent one and another demonstration of the fact that the order never does things by halves. The first floor will be arranged for storerooms. They will be well lighted and ventilated, as will the entire building, and built upon modern ideas. Above the first floor the next four floors will be arranged for offices, which will be supplied with all the modern conveniences.

Above these, on the sixth floor, will be club rooms, which will be let to social and literary clubs, and be adapted especially to the use of such clubs. Above this, on the seventh floor, will be the social rooms for use by the lodges. These rooms will be arranged for purely social purposes. On this floor will be the libraries, etc. The top floor will be occupied by the lodge rooms. Rapid elevators will be placed in the building and every modern appliance for convenience and comfort will be provided. Back of the storerooms on the first floor, opening on to Wabash street, will be a swimming bath extending the full width of the building, sixty-five feet, and fitted up with all the appliances to be found in such places, and with a depth of water ranging from a few feet to twenty feet. The bath will have attendants at all hours. A gymnasium may also be added on the first floor. It has not been fully determined to put in a gymnasium, but if one is placed in the building, like everything else within it, it will be supplied with all the appliances needed to

PANHANDLE GROUNDS OPENING.

The members of the Board, of Public Works yesterday drove out to the Panhandle shops to view the ground where it is proposed to open Sharpe street through the property of the company. From State street to the next north and south street connecting the Michigan road with Washington street is a distance of a mile and a half, and the property owners along the Michigan road have petitioned the board to open a street through the property of the railroad company. The railroad company has remonstrated against the proposed opening of the street, saying it will interfere with extensive improvements which they are contemplating making upon their grounds. Without a street opened through this property the residents along the Michigan road and about Woodside are practically without fire protection, as to lay a line of hose to them it would be necessary for the department to come down State street. The street will probably be opened through the property within a short time. The question which has been per-plexing the board is one of damages to be awarded to the company. The property is very valuable to the company, and the board has thought that the award of damages that would be necessary would be heavier than the property owners, who are mostly working people, could bear. Superintendent Darlingtor, of the road, went out to the vicinity. He says there are but seventy-nine houses in Woodside and that most of the people residing there are employes of the company and permitted to go through the company's grounds, and he does not see how they are

A Map of Water Plugs. The city engineer is making a map showing the number and location of all the water plugs in the city. The city has no record of the plugs in use by it, and no way to tell whether the monthly bill rendered to be benefited by the opening of the street.

by the company for a given number of plugs is correct or not. When the engineer sought to make the map for use in his office it was found that the city had no record whatever, and he is now engaged in preparing one. He has recently completed a map showing the number and location of all electric, gas and vapor lamps in the city. This map shows that the city is now using 817 electric, 272 gas and 591 vapor lamps, having discontinued the use of about one hundred vapor lamps a few weeks ago. This map was prepared by Thomas Tallentire, and so thoroughly did he do his work that he found two electric lamps which the electric light company had lost track of. Since they have been put up the city has paid nothing for their lighting. There will be a number of changes made within a short time in the location of lamps, so as to afford more light with the same number of lamps. These changes are mostly to be made in the outskirts of the city, though some of them are near

Will Not Increase Wages. There will be a meeting of the finance committee at the office of the city clerk on Thursday night. The fee and salary committee will meet at the same time and place to consider the ordinance providing for an increase of $2 a day in the salaries of the foremen of the street-repair gangs. It is likely that this committee will report against the proposed increase. Several members of the Council have said they would vote against the ordinance if the committee reported favorably upon it. Twenty-One Bodies in a Vault. Dr. Earp yesterday secured the keys to the vauit of undertaker Girton in the Greenlawn Cemetery and visited it. He found twenty-one bodies in the vault, most of them of unknown persons, and some of them had been there for twenty-five years. The undertaker said he would make proper arrangements for the bodies in the vault.

Four bodies were removed from the Kreg-elo vault yesterday morning. Poor Brick on Coburn Street. The Board of Works may order the contractor who laid the brick pavement on Coburn street to take it up and repaye the street. The pavement has been down but little more than a year and is now very rough and in an altogether unsatisfactory condition. The matter has been referred to the city attorney and the action of the board depends upon the opinion received grounds south of the reformatory, of which it is expected to make a park. The board sent notices to a number of contractors to remove debris from places where they have done work in the streets.

Canal Bridge Abutments. The attention of the Board of Works has been called to the condition of the abutments under the bridge over the canal at First street. Residents on West First street called the attention of Inspector Scholl to the abutments and he examined them and reported to the board that he believed they needed repairing.

Macadam for Capitol Avenue. The Works Board, when it comes to consider the question of making a boulevard of Capitol avenue, will probably order the street improved with the best quality of Macadam from Morris to Twenty-sixth street. Parks will be laid out in the center of the street and a roadway constructed on either side for bicycle riders.

Expressmen Must Move Again. The expressmen who have been removed about from place to place since the city began the permanent improvement of streets are again compelled to move. The work of laying the brick pavement in Maryland street from Delaware to Alabama street has been begun and the expressmen had to get out.

Street Commissioner's Orders. The street commissioner has been ordered to drain the water from Alfree avenue, to clean up and repair Park avenue from Lincoln to Home avenue and repair the bridge on College avenue between Ninth and Tenth streets.

THE RULE IS BROKEN

MR. STEFFEN WILL APPEAR BE-FORE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Senator Voorhees Sends Him a Telegram-Attempt to Secure Tariff Reduction on Sumatra Tobacco.

Andrew Steffen, the East Washingtonstreet cigarmaker, left for Washington at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to appear before the Senate finance committee on bea recent meeting failed to vote in favor of | half of the cigarmakers in their efforts to going on with the project. The two lodges | secure a reduction of the tariff on Sumatra wrappers. Mr. Steffen is the first person who has succeeded in being permitted to appear in an oral hearing before the committee. At the very outstart Chairman Voorhees, of the committee, announced that the committee would not grant oral hearings to persons interested in the different tariff schedules, and the committee has steadily adhered to that policy ever since.

Mr. Steffen, however, was not daunted by the refusal of the committee to grant oral hearings, and has kept up a continual onslaught upon Senator Voorhees to grant the cigarmakers such a hearing. His visit to Washington was caused by the following telegram received from Senator Voorhees in response to repeated requests: "The finance committee was compelled from the start to refuse oral hearings, but as chairman I will hear your committee whenever you come. Wire me when to ex-

Upon receipt of this telegram Mr. Steffen immediately wired its contents to Morris S. Wise, secretary of the Cigarmakers' Association, of New York. He received a reply from the latter to meet the remainder of the committee at the Shoreham in Washington, and Mr. Steffen left immediately. The Cigarmakers' Association has been seeking to secure a reduction of the tariff upon the Sumatra wrapper because it says there is no American product that will take its place, and the manufacturers must have this wrapper at any cost. Before the McKinley law went into effect the duty was a sliding one from 35 to 75 cents, and averaged about 50 cents. It was raised by the McKinley law to $2. In the Wilson bill it was reduced to $1, and by the finance committee this was raised to $1.50. When the tobacco schedule came up for debate in the Sanate it was passed. It will probably be taken up again this week, and the com-mittee will be heard by the finance committee before the schedule comes up again in the Senate for debate. A cigarmaker said last night that the Sumatra wrapper was the only thing they could use, and there was no substitute for it in this country. He said the use of any other wrapper would ruin an otherwise good cigar, and the cigarmakers thought the proposed tariff was entirely too high under the circumstances. He said some years ago the Connecticut leaf made the best wrapper procurable, but for some rea-son or other this tobacco had degenerated till it was no longer fit for a wrapper. He thought it was due to a change in the soil.

ALMOST SELF-SUPPORTING.

Report for Six Months of State Charitable Institutions.

The report of the Board of State Charities for the six months ending May 1 is out. It shows that during that time 436 patients have been received at the four insane hospitals and that the increase in the daily average enrollment over that of a year ago is 76.79. The total expenditure for maintenance and construction at all the charitable institutions of the State was $433,002.09, while the receipts and earnings were $3,-955.58. The northern prison came near supporting itself during the six months, its to-tal expenses being $56,320.98 and its receipts and earnings $55,444.61, leaving only $876.37 expended on its account. The southern prison's earnings were $14,761.06 and its expenses $44,476.05. The total expenditures for correctional institutions were $165,860.86 and the receipts and earnings $71,785.12, leaving net expenses of $94,125.74. The grand net expenses for all the institutions of the State both charitable and correctional were, during this period, $523,172.25, as against $454,-081.51 for the same time last year, an increase in expenses of $69,090.74. The total salaries paid officers and employes of the charitable institutions for the six months amounted to $150,678.45 and those of the correctional institutions $48,647.50. There was an average number of 315 officers, teachers, attendants and employes at the Central Insane Hospital.

JOHN NORTHWAY DROPS DEAD.

One of the Oldest Contracting Plasterers in the City.

John Northway, a contracting plasterer, residing at No. 143 Pendleton pike, dropped dead while at work in a house at No. 982 North Meridian street, yesterday morning. Northway is one of the oldest contracting plasterers in this city, where he has been engaged in the work for forty years. Yesterday morning, while carrying a bundle of lath into the building, he dropped to the floor and was unable to rise. The men who were with him hurried to the residence of Coroner Beck, but before he arrived Northway was dead. Death was probably due to apoplexy. He was sixty years of age and leaves a wife and two children, one of them, a son, residing in Northport, W. Va. The body was removed to the resi-

A Boy with Prospects Disappears. The sudden disappearance of Quincy Johnson, a fourteen-year-old colored boy, from the home of his grandfather on Central avenue caused the grandparents no end of worry for a few days. The boy had lived with his grandfather for several years, and it was understood was to have the old man's property upon the death of the latter. This amounts to about $30,000. The boy has at last been located at Terre Haute. He walked all the distance to that city and was with relatives there.

A Great Trip.

Dr. A. H. Brown, a graduate of the dental college of this city, has just com-pleted, without doubt, the most extended dental tour on record. His travels em-brace Germany, Belgium, Holland and France, include a term of service with Mr. Goodman, of London, England, surgeon dentist to the household of her Majesty, the Queen, and his Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, and extend into the Ori-ent, where Dr. Brown enjoyed the unique distinction of being appointed surgeon dentist to his Excellency, Sir Arthur Have-plock, Governor of Ceylon, Dr. Brown enjoyed also the distinguished patronage of other potentates of India and the effete East, and returns to his native land loaded Trees in Reformatory Grounds.

The Board of Public Works will request citizens in the eastern part of the city to plant trees and in the fall the board will have a number of treets planted in the

THE INDIANA BOARD

PRESBYTERIAN HOME MISSION COMMITTEE IN ANNUAL SESSION.

Expressions of Joy Over the Successful Separation from the New York Board-A Dinner.

As a fitting close to yesterday's annual meeting of the committee of home mission work of the Indiana Synod of the Presbyterian churches a dinner was given last night in the banquet hall of the Commercial Club. Prominent ministers and laymen from all parts of the State and several from Illinois were present. Among those present from outside the city were Dr. W. P. Kane, of Bloomington, Ill.; Dr. J. P. Hutchinson, of Jeffersonville; Rev. R. V. Hunter, of Terre Haute: Rev. A. A. Pfanstichi, of Lafayette; Dr. Cunningham and State Senator Mount, of Crawfordsville; Judge Bonner, of Greensburg; Rev. James Williamson, of Thorntown; Dr. H. U. Johnson, of South Bend; Rev. E. S. Scott and Dr. D. P. Putnam, of Logansport; Rev. Mr. Thomas, of Marion; ex-State Senator Ristine, of Crawfordsville; Prof. J. L. Campbell, LL. D., of Wabash College; Rev. Mr. Lawson, of Fort Wayne; Rev. Frank Hayes, of Muncie; Rev. G. A. Beatty, of Rushville; Rev. J. F. Baird, of Seymour; J. E. Taggart, of Jeffersonville; Rev. T. M. Gossard, of Forest Hill; Rev. R. G. Rosscamp, of Greensburg; C. M. Thomas, of South Bend, and Rev. T. D. Tylle, of Crawfordsville. The ministers of all the leading Presbyterian churches in this city were present. A feeling that the breaking away from the board of New York, three years ago, had been successful was predominant, and those present, especially those who had worked for this movement, were happy in the occasion. Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, acted as toastmaster and spoke on "The Occasion." He said that those assembled before him represented the eight presbyteries of the State and, further, the churches, reaching over three hundred in number with a membership of over forty thousand. He said that when the Presbyterians of Indiana started out for themselves in this matter, that failure and recourse to the old board, that of New York, had been predicted. He said he was happy to see that failure had not been reaped and he said from the showing of the money spent in home missions, which amounted to nearly $500,000, that the board of New York could easily see that the Indiana board had and would be able to steer for itself in the future. He said the dinner was but a mode in which to express the happiness and enthusiasm of all Indiana Presbyterians over the occasion.

Rev. A. A. Pfanstiehl, of Lafayette, re-sponded to the toast "Do and Dare." He said that if the Indiana Presbytery had not dared what they did in breaking away from the board of New York, and had not had the energy and push which they afterwards exhibited and which he believed they always possessed, they would never have done or accomplished what they did. He said it was a daring spirit controlled by a capable mind that reaped the greatest benefits in this world. He stated that church work was not a thing far off or incomprehensible as many supposed it was, but a matter of fact and business. In speaking of mission work, he held that much of the success of all Christian work in any of the denominations rested mainly with this J. L. Campbell, LL. D., a professor at Wabash, spoke on "The Molding Influence of Presbyterianism on the State." Said he: "Presbyterianism, labeled Scotch-Irish, came from its home over the ocean and found a new home in the Eastern States. From there it had been brought westward, until a portion of its influence had settled down in Indiana. The results are plain to be seen. Legislators, judges, Governors, a President and others are among the distinguished contributions of this church to the State." To have produced all this, Presbyterianism must have had a strong influence in this State, and would, he believed, continue to maintain its foothold. "The Growth of the Indiana" was the subject of an address by Rev. W. P. Kane, D. D., of Bloomington, Ill. Mr. Kane was one of the first to agitate the breaking away of the Indiana Presbytery from the New York board. He said he had ob-served the results, and this all enthusiastic Presbyterian church members had also observed. He said the Indiana Synod had made a record for itself. When under the control of the New York board the weak churches grew weaker and the general interest in Presbyterianism flagged. When the new order of things came, vigor and new strength seemed to be instilled in the minds of all Presbyterians. He said that this idea, originative with Indiana, was having its influence upon like denominations of other States, and he said he would not be surprised to hear that the home mission work in other States had passed into the hands of the local State Rev. S. C. Dickey, State superintendent of the general mission work, then spoke on "The Work of Our Synod." His speech was mostly statistical. He said that in 1888, when under control of the New York board, there were but 311 churches in this State. He said that this figure had been at a standstill for twenty years, but as soon as Indiana took hold of the matter for itself affairs changed, and he reported 322 churches in the State at the present time. The membership in 1888 was 31,778, and at the beginning of this year it was some-thing over 41,000. In 1888 there were seventy vacant pulpits, while at the present time there are but six. In 1888 but a little over $3,000 was raised for home missions, while it is expected that during this year, despite the hard times, $17,000 will be raised. In 1888 there were 195 ministers. At the present time there are 260 ministers and fourteen students. Since the 1st of December 950 members have been added to the Presbyterian churches in the State. Where one officer had been employed during the con-trol by the New York board there are at the present time five officers. The five have preached 650 sermons and have raised $1,800 for home mission work. The superintendent has traveled 21,000 miles in the welfare of the work since the change, Rev. Dickey also gave numerous figures showing expenditures and receipts, but he said that he estimated that $3,150 had been saved by the change. After Rev. Dickey's address impromptu speeches were made by a number of those present who had proved themselves active in the work.

A Debate Over Salaries. At the meeting of the Presbyterian Home Mission Synod in the Y. M. C. A. parlors yesterday afternoon there was a lively discussion over the fixing of the salaries of the mission preachers. It was proposed to fix their salary at $800 per annum. Dur-ing the debate which followed Rev. Hutch-inson tendered his resignation as a member of the committee.

FEW AND DISCONSOLATE.

Meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee To-Day.

The meeting of the Democratic State central committee here to-day bids fair to be even more hopelessly disconsolate in its character than the first one. The Democratic party has never known a time when there was such a paucity of candidates for the several State offices as this year. None of the unterrified will admit their sad plight, however, and they are all trying to bluff themselves into thinking they are in the fight. It is hard work, however, and the committeemen have been begging their friends to make it a point to visit Indianapolis to-day in order to give the meeting a semblance of vitality. Chairman Tom Taggart has secured the promise of a score of stanch adherents that they will lounge around the Grand Hotel office all day in order to keep up party appearances. There is no spontanelty to be relied on this year. The enthusiasm must all be carefully prepared in advance. Even then it cannot be counted on. The only two members of the State committee on the ground last night were Judge Zollars, from the Fort Wayne district, and Thomas Mann, of Sullivan, who watches over the destinies of the Eighth district Bourbons. Besides these official exponents of Democracy there were seen at the Grand Hotel last night, J. M. Loring, William Willis and C. W. Wellman, of Sullivan; F. N. Hoffman, Dr. Figg and R. S. McKelvey, of Spencer; J. N. Study, of Richmond; C. Fairbanks, of Terre Haute; Leby T. France of Deceture and Postmer. John T. France, of Decatur, and Postmaster D. A. Fawcett, of Lagrange, formerly editor of the Democrat at that place. Sev-eral of these gentlemen happened to be here on business not in any way connected with Democratic doctrines. Attorney-general Smith and his side-partner, Leon Bailey, also lent their genial Democratic presence to the scene last evening. Most of the gentlemen named were on the hotel register, but did not frequent the hotel office last night. The only candidates who showed up during the evening were C. W. Wellman, of Sullivan, who wants to run against Captain Hess for Supreme Court Clerk, and Joseph Reilly, who still keeps up the bluff of running for Auditor. Reilly probably remains in the race simply to keep Democrats in the notion that they are alive. He evidently has no serious intention of allowing a nomination to be forced upon him. Chairman Taggart was on hand, jollying everybody, as usual. Nine more members are expected to put in an appearance this morning, and the meeting will be held at the Grand Hotel.

Central Labor Union's Defense. The Central Labor Union has issued an address defending itself from the attacks made on it by Loebenberg and some other agitators. The address claims that the only attacks made on the body were by Loebenberg and Gruelle. The union claims that it has considered no one except he who has been notoriously an enemy to organized labor. It insists that fewer office seekers can be found within its ranks than in any church or society of the city. The address admits that the membership of the union may have fallen off, but attributes this to the hard times. It is further asserted that the Populists never were in the majority in the union

LENA HILL.

It is just one week until the July races will open for a four days' meeting at the fair grounds, and the managers are busy putting everything in order for the occasion. The entries, which closed a few days since, show an unusually selected list of high-record horses. Among the large number entered is Lena Hill, from the Hill stock farm, Dallas, Tex., who carries the world's record in the two-year-old class, she having made 12% on the track last year. She is in fine trim, and will very likely add fresh laurels to her record on the track next week.
